

SUKY FINISHES
PLANS FOR NEW CHEER SECTION

Will Innovate Frosh Cheering Section at Georgia Tech Game Next
Saturday

GROUP IS COMPOSED ENTIRELY OF FROSH

Aspirants Will Hold First Practice at 5 p. m. Thursday in Gym

Plans for the selection of cheer leaders and the establishment of a freshman cheering section at the Georgia Tech game Saturday have been completed by Suky, campus pep organization.

Final selection of cheer leaders for the year will be made at the pep rally to be sponsored by the circle Friday at 7:15 p. m. in the Alumni gymnasium. All persons wishing to try out for cheer leaders are urged to be present. Selection will be made by members of the circle and those selected will give their first performance at the game.

Monitors for the freshman cheering section were appointed at the meeting to see that only freshmen are admitted and that order is kept.
The section will consist of a block on the lower portion of the south side between the 45 and 55 yard-lines. The first practice of the section has been set for Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the gymnasium, and all men wishing to become members of the section are asked to be present. New University cheers will be taught the freshmen by Pete Reinling, head cheer leader.

Arrangements with the Dixie Ice Cream Co. for various novel balloon displays at the game Saturday were also announced. According to tentative plans, a banner bearing the caption "Welcome Yellow-Jackets!" will be sent up on hydrogen balloons before the game, followed by a balloon in the shape of a Yellow-Jacket. Balloons will be passed out in the crowd as usual, to be released after the first Kentucky touchdown. Other banners will be flown from the scoreboard.

The permanent concession stand being constructed under the south side of the stadium is nearing completion and will be ready for use this Saturday.

Freshman Cabinet
Will Take Charge
At First Meeting

The newly-elected officers of the Y.M.C.A. Freshman cabinet will be in charge for the first time at the regular meeting of that body in Alumni hall at 7 o'clock tonight.

Elvis J. Stahr, senior in the College of Arts and Sciences, will assume the duties of senior advisor to the cabinet, a position he accepted last week.

The new officers for the year are: James Palmore, Frankfort, president; Robert Singleton, Somerset, vice-president; and Billy Murray, Lexington, secretary.

Dr. Robert W. Miles, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Lexington, will lead a discussion which will revolve around the value of the printed Bible to religion and civilization. The basis of the program will be a celebration of the four hundredth anniversary of the printing of the Bible in English.
Plans for the work of the cabinet this year will also be made.

Reister Selects
Stahr for Advisor

Elvis J. Stahr, Hickman, senior in the College of Arts and Sciences, was appointed senior advisor of the freshman YMCA cabinet, recently, by Don Reister, president of the organization, according to Bart N.
Peak, executive secretary of the University YMCA.

James Palmore, Frankfort, was elected president of the freshman cabinet at the meeting held in the Armory building Tuesday night.
Other officers elected were: Bob Singleton, Somerset, vice-president, and Billy Murray, Lexington, secretary.

Dr. D. C. Troxell, professor of the New Testament at the College of the Bible, this city, will be the speaker at the meeting of the freshman cabinet tonight. His subject will be "How We Got Our Bible." All freshman men students on the campus are urged to be present.

GRADS VISIT CAMPUS

J. F. Shouse, owner of J. F.
Shouse & Company, sales engineers, Louisville, Ky., visited the campus Saturday, October 5. Mr.
Shouse graduated in the class of 1919 with B.S. in Mechanical Engineering.

T. C. Ecton, member of the graduating class of January, 1934, with B.S. in Metallurgical Engineering, visited the campus Saturday.

Well Known Artist Booked For Coming Concert Series

Nino Martini, Noted Tenor, May Appear Here as 2nd Year Begins

The Community Concert association of central Kentucky opened its annual membership drive last evening at a banquet in the Gold Room of the Lafayette hotel. All team captains and workers were guests at the banquet and heard officers of the association give final instructions for the week's activities.

This is the second year that the concert series has been sponsored by the University. Last year, five concerts by outstanding artists were given in Memorial hall. Artists definitely booked this year include Rose Hampton, young American contralto of the Metropolitan Opera company; the Vienna Choir Boys, one of the most interesting choral organizations on tour, and Dales Frantz, brilliant young American pianist. Two other attractions will be selected from the following list of artists: Nino Martini, tenor of the Metropolitan Opera and star of the recent motion picture, "Here's to Romance"; Richard Bonelli, baritone of the Metropolitan Opera; Joseph Szeged, Hungarian violinist; the Gordon String quartet; Carla Goya, Spanish dancer; Charles Hackett, tenor of the Metropolitan, and Cornelia Otis Skinner, dramatic dancer.

Adult memberships in the association are $5.00 and student memberships are $2.50. No single admissions will be sold at the door on nights of the concerts and no memberships may be obtained after Saturday evening, October 12, at 9 o'clock.

Memberships in the Lexington association may be used for admission to all Community Concerts in Louisville without additional charge. Artists appearing on the Louisville series include Lawrence Tibbitt, baritone; Helen Jepson, soprano; Joseph Szeged, violinist; the Gordon String quartet, and Bartlett and Robertson, duo-pianists.

Headquarters for the association have been opened in the lobby of the Lafayette hotel, with Mrs. I. D.
Best, campaign chairman, and Miss Mary Leonard, in charge. Professor R. D. McIntyre, of the College of Commerce, is the executive secretary of the association.

All students who are interested in securing memberships are urged to call at the headquarters or to see the following people on the campus: Dean Sarah Blanding, Prof. R. D. McIntyre, Miss Mildred Lewis, Mrs. Dudley South, Mrs.
Landon Cox, John Lewis, Miss Helen Morse, Helmut Rich, Tom Alexander, Dorothy Murrell, Fred Stephens, Philip McGee, Mary Dantzer, Louise Patterson, David Salvers, Evelyn Whitman, Thelma Goodrich, Kathryn Mahan, Fred Fischer, Katherine Waddle, Inez Baisden and Elizabeth Moffett.

Memberships may also be obtained at the Campus book store from Miss Mays or Mr. Morris.

'WHO'S WHO' OF
STATE PLANNED

Standard Printing Company of Louisville Will Print Biographies of Prominent Kentuckians

Late this fall, the first "Who's Who in Kentucky" ever to be published in the state will be issued by the Standard Printing Co., Inc., Louisville, and will include the biographies of men and women of achievement in the fields of education, the arts, professions, business, statesmanship, sports and civic activities.

In 1926 the publishers of the coming edition issued a similar volume which concerned itself chiefly with Louisville, this now being revised and supplemented with biographies of Kentucky men and women and those Kentuckians who have achieved in their vocations outside the state.

A volume of this type is necessary and important to supplement in a

DUTCH DANCE TO BE OCTOBER 11

Theta Sigma Phi to Sponsor Affair Which Will Be Held Before Suky
Pep Rally

Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary professional journalistic fraternity for women, will sponsor a Dutch dance from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m.
Friday, October 11 in Alumni gym, prior to the Suky pep rally.

Music will be furnished by Shiny Herrington and his orchestra, featuring Morton Potter, vocalist.
Admission will be 25 cents per person.

Posters advertising the dance are being displayed on the campus and in Lexington stores; five hundred tickets are being distributed and may be obtained from the following members of the fraternity: Bettie Boyd, Betty Oil, Edwina Corey, Mary Rees Land, Frances Dunlap, and Virginia Robinson.

Committee chairmen, appointed by Bettie Boyd, president, are: Mary Rees Land, orchestra; Betty Earle, place of dance; Frances Dunlap, tickets, and Virginia Robinson, publicity.

Senatorial Nominee
To Address UK Club

Leer Buckley, Lexington, Republican nominee for state senator, will be the principal speaker at the weekly meeting of the University Republican club at 7:30 o'clock tonight, in room 111, McVey hall. Mr.
Buckley is a former representative in the state legislature from the city of Lexington.

James Park, commonwealth's attorney of Fayette County, and State Republican campaign manager will also speak. All members of the Republican party are urged to attend the meeting and become members of the club.

Geologists Are Given
New Experimental Laboratory Aides

Acid and Petroleum Studies to Be Carried on by Students

The University of Kentucky has added two new laboratories to the Geology department. These new developments consist of acid and petroleum laboratories.

The new laboratories open new fields of study and research for the students. In the acid laboratory various fluids are used which help carry on the work of dissolving practically insoluble residue. These processes help determine the amount of silicate in carminous oil work.
Information gained through this process can be used in future correlation work. Students can also get many new and interesting ideas for their geology thesis.

The petroleum laboratory is carried on in conjunction with the state petroleum department. Tests are made there to determine the amount of oil content in abandoned oil sands and cores. If sufficient oil residue is found in the laboratory tests, the pools are reworked. The University operators are paid a small fee for this research to help defray operating expenses.

Italians Are Jubilant As News of Fall of Adowa Reaches Rome; Mussolini Congratulates Soldiers

By HUDSON HAWLEY
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

Rome, Oct. 7.—(INS)—Cries of "On to Addis Ababa! On to Harar!" rang through Italy from Sicily to Savoy as joyous crowds, after a tremendous celebration of the fall of Adowa, urged their troops in Ethiopia on to new victories.

Official word of the occupation of Adowa, wiping out memories of 6,000 dead and wounded Italian soldiers there in 1896, together with news of capitulation of nearby Adigrat and Gerogubi, on the southeastern front, was conveyed by radio to a frenzied populace late yesterday.

"On the morning of the 6th, at dawn, the Second Army corps advanced and took Adowa at 10:30 o'clock," blared loud speakers in public squares.

"The people and clergy of Adowa placed themselves in the hands of the victorious troops."

Two aerial bombardments and heavy shelling by artillery over a period of four days preceded the triumphal entry of General Maravigna, led by tanks, into the town of mud and thatched huts.

Premier Mussolini heard of the victory shortly before 8 p. m. He notified King Victor Emanuel and ra-

GROUPS TO FEATURE
VARIETY PROGRAMS

Girls Interested in Social Service Have Special Field Group

Beginning today, the YWCA 500 Membership drive will continue through Wednesday and Thursday, October 8, 9, and 10, giving all University women an opportunity to join the Association and participate in the year's activities.

Representatives in the Women's building, sorority houses, and dormitories will sign up new members, who will be officially installed in the formal Recognition Services, to be held on Tuesday, October 15, at 7:30 p. m. in Memorial hall. Members will also be given an opportunity to select the various groups in which they wish to participate through the year.

A wide variety of programs and a number of well known guest speakers will be featured of the YWCA group meetings, to be held weekly on the campus during the school year. The groups are of various kinds, each having a different purpose and interest. Some of these are the Social Service group, the World Fellowship group, the Sophomore Commission, the Hobby group, the Dutch Lunch club, the Freshman group, the Music, and Worship groups.

The Social Service group offers those girls interested in social work an opportunity to do practical work in this field, and also develops an understanding of the nature of social service in its relation to the worker, the client, and the citizens subsidizing social service.

For those girls who are interested in the social, political, and economic conditions of other countries, there is the World Fellowship group, whose purpose is to bring a better understanding of foreign people and lands to its members by the study of other countries.

Another group of the YWCA is the Sophomore Commission, whose 25 members have been chosen for their outstanding work in the YW-CA during their Freshman year.
They meet informally every week for discussions of topics of general interest.

Town girls and commuters from nearby towns have their own group, the Dutch Lunch club, which is a weekly luncheon gathering of those girls who are interested in YWCA

Fina Dancarina

The second All-Kampus dance of the year will be given Wednesday night in the Alumni gym, from 8 till 10:30 o'clock. Dances of this kind will be given every other Wednesday night throughout the year.

These dances are given under the auspices of the Dean of Men, T. T. Jones, assisted by the Student council. Proceeds from the dances are used in purchasing necessary equipment.
The present project is that of purchasing a new piano.

The music Wednesday night will be furnished by Andy Anderson and his orchestra. Admission will be 25 cents, with informal wear requested.

Goslin's Safety In Ninth Is

HURT IN CRASH

Raymond St. John, Alpha Sigma Phi, Suffers Fractured Arm in Auto Accident; Condition Is Good

The condition of Raymond St.
John, Schenectady, N. Y., sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences, who suffered a fractured left arm in an automobile accident Friday night while enroute to the Ohio State-Kentucky game at Columbus, was reported as "good" today by attaches of the Good Samaritan hospital, where he was brought Sunday.

The accident occurred approximately 12 miles north of Hillsboro, Ohio. Edward Lancaster, Lexington; Wilson Lowery, Lexington; Thomas Nance, Owensboro; Coleman Satterfield, Henderson; and John Merton, Martins Ferry, Ohio were all in the machine with St.
John at the time of the accident.
Lowery driving, Lancaster received a slight cut behind the ear but the others escaped injury.

According to Nance, the accident occurred on a sharp curve when the machine was forced off the road by a truck, which did not stop.
He said Lowery was forced to run into the ditch to avoid striking the truck and that the car turned over on its side.

Lancaster, St. John, and Merton were in the rumble seat of the machine, he said. Nance said his head went through the door class on the right side, but that he was not injured.

The other occupants of the car left St. John at Hillsboro for treatment and went on to Columbus, returning Sunday afternoon with St.
John where he entered the hospital.

Cubs Win After Burning Luck Charms But Lose Series

Detroit, Oct. 7.—(INS)—The superstitions of the Chicago Cubs are becoming very involved. Now they are superstitious about superstitions.
Before yesterday's game with Detroit the Cubs gathered in the club house, decided to burn the luck charms which had given them but one victory in four World's Series starts.

Bill Jurgess tossed his rabbit foot into the blaze, Dick Warneke threw away his lucky penny. Charlie Grimm decided to stop driving a nail in his left shoe as a pre-game signal of victory.

The charm worked. The Cubs won. And now they won't need any superstitions. They lost yesterday.

Bridges Manages to Last Out Game Through Series of Lucky Breaks

Detroit, Mich., October 7.—The Detroit Tigers closed the door on the 1935 big league baseball season today and emerged World Champions as a result of their thrilling 4 to 3 win over the Chicago Cubs.
Detroit fans, sensing the kill, were in their best festive mood; indeed Detroit took on a holiday air probably unsurpassed in the history of the city—except possibly by the series of last year.

It was a perfect climax, that Frank Merriwell finish in the ninth frame. The Tigers went into the last half of the final canto with the score tied at three to three. With one man out, Cochrane binged and was safe at second when the throw bounced and hit the umpire, Goose Goslin, the Tiger left fielder then took the role of hero when Cochrane scored on his single to right center field.

The weather was the most ideal since the series began last week.
Near freezing weather, coupled with a high wind, made it very uncomfortable for both players and fans last week, but today it was almost perfect baseball weather—all of which added to the general spirit of festivity that pervaded Nagin field.

Tommy Bridges, Detroit's ace moundsman, had sufficient strength to keep the Chicago bats from connecting with the pill too often. At one or two points, however, things looked black for him, but he managed to hold up in the pinches in the style which made him probably the outstanding pitcher in the league this season. Larry French went all the way for the Cubs.

Billy Herman, the Cubs' second baseman hit a homer in the fifth with French on, putting the Cubs ahead, 2-1.

For a long time it looked as if the game would go into extra innings. The hair-raising last inning, though, put an end to such speculation.

The count in the series was four games for Detroit to two for the Cubs with the Chicago club winning the first and fourth tilts.

Being Taken This Week

Kentuckian has been announced by James Bersot, business manager.
The staff is in charge of taking pictures this week and next week at Memorial hall.

Ralph Hughtett, Princeton, is the sales manager. He is a member of Lances, Lamp and Cross, Pitkin club, and is a Second Lieutenant in the student ROTC. Hughtett's staff is composed of John Huston, James Salter, and Betty Jackson.

Ernie Shovea has been appointed advertising manager. He is a member of Keys, Kernel Business staff, Alpha Delta Sigma, and is a member of Alpha Sigma Phi social fraternity. On his staff are Bert Hallenberger and Edgar Penn. A few appointments will be made later.

ADDED FAME FOR KNIGHT

Prof. Grant C. Knight's "James Lane Allen and the Gentle Tradition," published during the summer by the University of North Carolina press, and now being widely reviewed, is to be distributed in England by the Oxford University press.
Professor Knight's "The Novel in English" has just been issued in a third edition by Farrar and Rinehart, and his "American Literature and Culture" received a lengthy review in the latest number of the "Chronique des Etudes Anglaises," printed in Brussels.

Transy Man Killed
In Auto Accident

Five Transylvania college students and one University student were injured, one fatally, in an automobile accident at the intersection of the Versailles and Mason-Headley roads Friday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock. Less than two hours after the crash, Richard Nitschke, 19, Seattle, Wash., died at 2:15 o'clock in the Good Samaritan hospital.

Miss Molly Hardy, 20, Nashville, Tenn., was reported yesterday to be in a critical condition resulting from a fractured skull and other injuries. Monroe Moosnick, the only University student, received minor cuts and bruises and a concussion.
The group was enroute to the Transy-University of Louisville football game.

Others hurt were Edward Melvin, Lexington; Miss Margaret Hoffrichter, Baltimore, and George Botts. The accident occurred when the students' car ran into an embankment while attempting to pass a truck.

OHIOANS REAL SPORTS

For the second time in the last eleven days Kentucky has crossed the border of the sister state of Ohio to engage in athletic contest with representative men of that great commonwealth, and both times has returned with the positive conviction that they had met and either conquered or been conquered by real sportsmen.

The football game that the Wildcats played with Xavier, in which they came off with a comfortable balance to their credit upon the gridiron, and at which time they enjoyed a reception by representatives of a great and forward looking university was not one whit less gratifying than that which the Wildcats enjoyed in Ohio State's magnificent stadium last Saturday afternoon.

The fact that Ohio State is fortunate in the possession of a football machine that stands as a threat against any other contender for the American championship, lent serious and dramatic purpose to the contest between Ohio State and Kentucky.

Not many times, if ever, has Kentucky met a manlier, cleaner, more sportsmanlike team, nor a finer, nor friendlier body of men composing its coaching staff; and if it may be said without the possibility of being successfully denied that the Ohio people gather in their great stadium with the intention of giving Kentucky every med of praise that was her due. Indeed when outstanding plays were made by the "Fighting Wildcats" they received as unstinted applause from advocates of the Buckeyes as they received from their own fellow citizens gathered in the stands. We are told that at the close of the game these stalwart young, clean sportsmen of the Ohio squad gathered about the "Fighting Wildcats" and congratulated them upon their great battle.

This is sportsmanship of the type which fills the heart of the true Kentuckian, and THE KERNEL, official representative of the student body, desires to acknowledge their gratefulness for the treatment and courtesies our boys received in a gridiron contest, destined to go down in history as a great one, and in memory as an occasion not soon to pass from the recollection of those who witnessed that hard fought battle.

TRADITIONS OR STANDARDS

Despite the efforts of certain organizations and college officials to the contrary, Kentucky is getting away from traditions. In fact, colleges and universities all over the country are getting away from traditions. We have heard much about the value of historical tradition in building spirit and love for the old Alma Mater, but the trend away from traditions to standards has continued and there has not been a noticeable change in the loyalty of the graduate and the undergraduate to his or her institution. Therefore the time has come for retrospect as to what has caused such a change and whether it is for the better.

Before one enters college he hears much talk about this and that traditional affair—such as the serenade of the coeds at midnight, the early rising to witness the tapping for Eta Beta Pi, honorary for whoozis etc. We hear of how the graduate leaves college with remote memories of ivy-covered walls, shady walks, babbling brooks etc. There are traditions ever present which bring tears to the old grad's eyes and haunt him with hallowed memories of days gone by.

But today we have no more of this. Perhaps it is because of the age's general tendency towards "de-bunking". Perhaps it is the thirst for something new, but rather we should say that it represents a general change from traditions to standards.

Such a change does not necessarily mean the abandoning of all customary functions, but it does imply the abandoning of those which are carried on simply because of useless tradition. We have all heard "My dad used to do that in '98" or "My aunt was chairman of the committee for that in '05" etc., and many traditions have been carried through the years for just such sentimental reasons.

Times have changed. No longer do we find the college graduate a hallowed article which is to be revered when he "cries over the initials on his pipe or chants the songs of dear old Siwash". Today the college graduate must constitute a well-trained, efficient machine which can produce something of value when called upon. The more fact that he went to college in no longer sufficient to throw the world at his feet.

Thus inevitably we find that traditions are on the way out and standards are on the way in. We still witness a few traces of foolishness, but in a few years, even these will have gone. Those few traditions which are practical will remain but those which have been retained for the sake of "pure love of the past" will fade into oblivion. And so we say "hurrah" for the new deal in college life—the replacing of traditions by standards.

MAN OF DESTINY

"Italy! Italy! Entirely and universally Fascist", rang the words of Mussolini throughout the world as he called his subjects to battle last week. Why shouldn't the modern dictator crave the noise of battle? The chaos, injustice, and disillusion resulting from the last war boosted him to power. He is in his glory.

The times made Mussolini and Hitler. Both possess the necessary qualities for utilizing a political, social, and economic breakdown. Mussolini, immutable as the rock of Gibraltar, handsomely dramatic, and Napoleonic in make-up, is the child of expediency.

A master of emotions, Il Duce can so dramatize his routine life as to create a response of awe and fear. That he has a faculty for administration no one can deny. A better Italy is his goal, if he himself can ride the crest of the wave.

Alexander, Caesar, Napoleon, all built empires and established efficient legal systems but they had to stifle the liberty of their subjects to do it. Pity the man who possesses the qualities necessary to lead his people out of confusion and misery but who lacks the foresight or hindsight to interpret history.

Italy is over-populated and economically sick. All Europe suffers from the disastrous World War and its even more disastrous peace terms. Other nations got more from the peace pot than Italy. But another war cannot successfully settle the difficulties in question. It can only plunge the nations deeper into the abyss of economic and political ruin.

Until the leaders of men can give mankind the fruits of their wisdom without taking blood and freedom in return, we must expect a continuance of the cycle. The greatest of leaders tried to do this almost 2,000 years ago, that is, to build an empire on such principles as love and fair play. He did not use coercion but reason; he was not glamorous but humble; and he had to die in order to leave even the nucleus of his empire. And until this empire impresses its statesmanship upon the empires of the world, we will constantly fight.

TRIBUTE TO WEEKLIES

Some of the late Will Rogers philosophic and humorous paragraphs will go down in literary history as masterpieces. And perhaps one of the finest of these is his tribute to the "home town paper," one of his last writings.

"Take away my ham, take away my eggs, even chili," said Will, "but leave me my newspaper. Even if it has such purely local news as 'Jim Jones came home last night unexpectedly, and bloodshed ensued' or 'Jesse Bushyhead, or local M.D., is having one of the best years of his career, practically speaking—but they just won't pay him when they get well,' the county seat was packed yesterday with prominent people from out of town, attempting to renew their notes' and 'election ain't far off and everybody is up for office that can sign an application blank.'"

"Now all that don't seem much news to you. But it is news to you, especially when you know the people and they are your own folks. So no matter how punk you may think your local newspaper is getting, why just take it away from you and see how you feel. The old newspaper, I think, is just about our biggest blessing. So let's all read and be merry for tomorrow the paper may not have enough ads to come out."—Journal-Democrat, De Pere, Wis.

Hoi Polloi

By BOB HESS

Well, here we are back in good old Lexington after a glorious week-end in Columbus. And it's mighty good to be back where not only weather is warmer, but the people are warmer.

This talk of moral victory may be a lot of bunk, but if ever a moral victory was scored, Kentucky scored it against Ohio State Saturday.

It is our contention that the many Kentuckians who wore themselves out yelling during the game were the proudest people in all the world after that game. Our boys were in there fighting every minute giving all they had. That team out there representing the state that has more colonels than Ohio State University has students. Had the night and day

By ENGY

Most of this was observed in Columbus. Did you go? Every one that did seemed to have had one grand time. Ohio State was lucky to defeat Kentucky. Two breaks gave them the victory. The sickening rides on the elevators in the Neil House. The conglomeration of ATO's in the Neil House night club on Friday night. Phil Deltis were also well represented. The cute singer with the orchestra there. Every stag in the place tried to get a date with her. The Pan Hoi meeting in the Neil House bar. Those represented were SAE, Phi Gam, Phi Delt, Sigma Chi. What a crew. The crowd in the Ionian Room of the Deshler-Wallick, Saturday at noon. The uncomfortable ride to and from the game. Did you notice the condition of the Neil House lobby about 2 o'clock Sunday morning. The masses of people on the street about 5 o'clock Saturday morning. The many persons who had the fliters Saturday. Crooked streets of Columbus. The loyal Ohioans who were giving 50 points on the Scarlet and Gray team.

The long ride back. The many aching heads. Drug stores did a good business Sunday morning. The potency of the whiskey sours in the Neil House. The many Ohio people who were sore because they did not defeat Kentucky by a larger score. How high the press box was above the playing field. The compliments of the New York reporters on the Wildcats. Looks like Johnson will be an All-American. How much the Kentuckians out-cheered the Ohioans. Eighty-six fraternalities and sororities on the Ohio State campus. The many traffic jams. The Alumni headquarters. Who did not see them. When they played the Ohio State song in the State Restaurant after playing "My Old Kentucky Home".

How bad people looked Sunday morning. Tomato juice was the life saver. Alka Seltzer and Bromo got a big play too. The sandwiches and hot chocolate served in the press box between halves were certainly delicious. The number of high school buses on the Ohio campus. How would you like to go to school there. Fraternity and sorority houses seem to be forty miles from the campus. It was quite breezy for those who had to ride in rumble seats. How proud UK students are of their Wildcats. What will we do to Georgia Tech next Saturday. Heard the scandal writer had his ears and eyes open while in Columbus.

finest spirit that we have ever seen on the gridiron.

We have a fine bunch of boys that make up a fine team, and we are anxious to let the world know that we are proud of them.

Squibs from Columbus

Georgia Turnipseed phoned "Pock" Tanner all the way from Virginia. It must have been important, for they talked about seven minutes. Bill Heath was with Dot Curtis, as usual. Billy Spicer, who escorted Midge Wheeler to the game, took Midge to her room about ten o'clock Saturday night, and then proceeded to tag it. Was it five or seven crown, Billy? Figure this one out. By merely sliding under a door, Louis "Stump" Brock saved six boys thirty cents. J. Franklin Wallace was cavorting around the lobby of the Neil House with a keen looking little gal just half his size. Dos Ried and Helen Young had their usual argument. Nancy Quickell and Mary Lillian "Bright-Eyes" Sellers were escorted to the Grill of the Deshler-Wallick with eleven young men Saturday night. "Garfish" Staples waited around the lobby of the Neil House for Nell Craik about two hours Saturday morning. She finally arrived with Phil McGee. Nice of you, Phil. A tall, dark, and handsome lad planted a smacker on the luscious lips of Frances Woods in front of 56,000 people in the stadium. Who signed their name as Louie Jackobs in the register of the Fort Hayes Hotel in order to beat the bill? The Deshler-Wallick Grill was lousy with Kappas. Phoebe Ellis on such a cute little girl. Yep, Betsy, you'll make them a fine girl, and congratulations.

Trapeze Again
Last week, "Shotgun" Wedding was hanging by his toes from the bar that holds the shower curtain in the KA bathroom. His toes slipped, and down went "Shotgun". But what were the details of the fall, fellow?

We Saw
At exactly 5:40 p. m. Wednesday, in front of Dunn's, we caught Chicky Penn and Julia Maryfield getting in a little smooching. It must be love, Chicky, and ain't love grand? But you might try the little road that leads into McVey Hall from the south. It's might private when Kelly, the kampus kop, isn't around.

Floating Power
The Sigchi boys told us one on Pren Douglas. Pren was sitting around a sorority house with a Greekette, so the story goes. All of the sudden, the girl ups and says, "Prenny, dear, do you want to kiss me now or wait five minutes?" If anyone can tell us who the girl is, please give us a ring at 4234.

Cracker Eating
It was on a dark and cloudy night, SAE Bill Dawson walked into the pantry at the KD house. Clip! The light went on, and lo and behold, there was C. T. Hertzsch in a corner with—we don't have to say who. We have you there, C. T. You can't play bridge in the dark, you know. Dawson ate crackers too!

Drippings from the Quill Tom Clower and his passion, Harriet Lancaster, had better not take Flem "Water-Bottle" Congleton to the Club Joy on Sunday night anymore. Flem just can't make his Monday morning classes after an evening spent in the company of Tom and Harriet. Rosie Clinkscales is going to make the perfect band sponsor. Lou Henehan is taking Italian just in case. He claims that he is being solicited to become chief-of-staff of the army under that guy Benito. Some think that Mary Andrews Pearson is still in circulation, but it appears that Waddy Platt still has the edge on you fellows. Jean Short's new nickname is "Jennie". Barbara Wiley, when asked if she had fallen in love yet, said, "I have to have myself just smothered with attention before I will fall in love." Louie "Stump" Brock seems to be doing a pretty good job, don't you think, Barb? Who was the keen blonde that Bill Holster was seen escorting from his apartment late one night last week? 'Tis rumored that Buck Ewing went home last week-end to see a little home town girl.

How bout you, Virginia Ferguson? We wonder who the filly in the Minor Apartments is that has the Lambachis ga-ga. Although "Engy" gripes about the rotten service in Dunn's, we notice that he goes there plenty. Engy is certainly courting a swell blonde, but he simply won't introduce anyone to her. Little Audery just laughed and laughed when a frosh known as Emer Mullins walked away from Martha Ammerman at the frosh "mixer" Wednesday afternoon, leaving Martha standing in the middle of the floor all alone. Nate Elliot is beginning to worry about Nancy Dyer. Yep, none other than Bob Davis has been showing Nancy some attention.

"Short-weight" Westbrook, pride of the chain stores, has opened his soft drink stand in the west end of the gym for the second year and dispensing drinks to the thirsty dancers. Watch your change, folks!

Where's George?

—gone to...
GRAVES-COX

George knows the ropes, don't worry about that. He has just dropped into Graves-Cox for an Arrow regimental club stripe necktie at $1.00.

Boucher, Beltz, and Dye, Ohio State backs, said that Nevers was one of the toughest men that they have ever encountered. After the game Dye fussed about the poke in the kisser that Red Symphon had delivered. Caroline Sparks nearly went crazy when "Double-O" McMillan did so fine during the melee. Saturday night, Williams, Ohio State's sophomore whisk-o-wind, said that Davis and Johnson were about the best he had ever seen. You're tellin' us?

Here you are, Betsy Allen. A beautiful bouquet of roses all for you, because you are one of the keenest girls that the Chios pledged this year. Those Chios are certainly bragging about the fact that they hooked those pledge ribbons

FROM STONE TO STEEL

THOUSANDS of years ago, a skin-clad workman pounded away with a cobblesone on a slab of hard rock. In a few years, that slab might be passably square and smooth.

Today, busy machines, supervised by trained workmen, pare off crisp, curling ribbons from whirling blocks of steel, as one would unwind ribbon from a spool, shaping the metal to a thousand purposes—to an accuracy within a few ten-thousandths of an inch.

CARBOLOY—a modern tool material developed by General Electric research—has made possible this speed, this precision. It cuts materials hitherto unworkable—cuts faster and holds its edge longer than steel tools—can be run at red heat without losing its temper.

CARBOLOY is only one of the contributions made to improved industrial processes by G-E research—research that has saved the public from ten to one hundred dollars for every dollar earned for General Electric.

"Who's Who in Kentucky" will perpetuate the biographies of men and women of general achievement and will be entirely representative. There is no charge made for the submitting of biographies or their preparation. The edition will be bound in black leather and will be of much value to libraries and newspapers for authentic information and in many homes for the perpetuating of family and individual biographies.

Brush and Pencil Club Opens Exhibit

The Brush and Pencil club will open its fifth exhibit of pictures by artists of Lexington and vicinity on Monday, October 14, at the Art Center of the University. The exhibit will continue through Sunday, November 3.

All artists in Lexington and central Kentucky are invited to submit entries for the show.

As in previous exhibitions sponsored by the Brush and Pencil club all entries will be passed upon by a jury of selection.

The jury will accept drawings, prints, pastels, oils and water colors, and small sculptures.

Artists wishing to enter this show should bring their work to the Art Center, University of Kentucky, not later than Saturday morning, October 12. An entry blank must be attached. Blanks may be secured at the Art Center.

Comments on the Columbus contest: Right at the outset let us say that the Wildcats played the best game that we've seen them turn in for three years. Their blocking was not flawless but was far better than in any game last year or in the two previous tilts this season. The 'Cats tackled hard and played smart, heads-up ball all the way through. They showed plenty of offensive strength, also, though scoring only once and keeping the O.S.U. defense worried all afternoon.

Standout performances during the afternoon were turned in by Bert Johnson who ran through his whole repertoire with all of his usual facility, running the ball, kicking, passing, backing up the line and intercepting passes. Stan Nevers, who ordinarily gives a top-notch exhibition, really turned on against the Bucks, smearing plays before they got beyond their own backfield, and in general, giving his side of the line the appearance of a stone wall. As far as the State backs were concerned, Bob Davis, the other half of the great Wildcat scoring threat, whose playing during the fracas was notable, was one of the few 'Cats who went the entire 60-minute route, and came through unscathed after taking a terrific hammering from the bulky Ohio linemen. Captain Jimmy Long and Gene Meyers, both played much of the ballgame in the Buckeye backfield. Guards Joe Huddleston and Frank McClurg held their own with the ever-fresh Buck forward wall. "Bo" McMillan, who called a nice game at quarterback, gave a great defensive exhibition, besides leading interference with much finesse. Elmore Simpson, who played most of the game at fullback, was getting his first test with the 'Cat varsity. His only other appearance was made when he started the Maryville game with the all-Sophomore combination, but he performed like a veteran this time.

For Ohio State the play of Captain Gomer Jones at center and Williams at halfback especially stood out. Jones was all over the field, following the ball like a hawk, recovering or intercepting the pigskin at opportune times, and making plenty of the Buck tackles. Williams is called "Jumping Joe, the Barborton Bomb," and both appellations fit him neatly. We thought he was the biggest threat Ohio produced. He hops like a scared rabbit and shifts without any wasted motion. He'll explode in many of the Big Ten tilts from now on. Coach Schmidt sent in so many players that it was rather difficult to notice any but the real standouts.

The Columbus papers all gave Kentucky good write-ups before and after the game. The Dispatch, only Sunday paper, came out with about a dozen good pictures of the game, one of them taking up half the front page. In the pressbox, all the scribes were lavish in commendation of Bert Johnson, without forgetting about Bob Davis and Stan Nevers. Backfield Coach Lopez of Chicago believed that the 'Cats would do more than hold their own in Big Ten competition. He was scouting for the Maroons Lew Bryer, sports editor of the Columbus Citizen, was especially impressed with Johnson's playing, and said so in his story for the football extra. This week we received fine treatment in the pressbox and enjoyed hot chocolate and roast beef sandwiches between the halves, while the State band put on a swell show for the crowd.

The singing of "My Old Kentucky Home", by the Wildcat cheering section was the subject of much favorable comment. It appeared that the small band of Kentuckians were making more noise than all else in the stadium combined, and they had numerous occasions to cheer.

A record opening day crowd of 56,686 spectators fitted very comfortably into the huge Ohio Field horseshoe. There were not so many vacancies to be noticed. The Kentucky team received only the finest treatment during their stay in Columbus, and came home with nothing but good will toward the Bucks. We hope the relations now established with Ohio State may be continued, as they are opponents of high type, real class, and admirable sportsmanship.

Now that the Ohio State tilt has been taken care of in such fine fashion, Coach Wynne can turn his attention to the remainder of his slate, which consists entirely of Southeastern conference foes.

Starting this week, the Wynnemen meet Georgia Tech, Auburn, Florida, Tulane, Alabama and Tennessee before ringing down the curtain.

None of these games is going to be easy. The fact that Tennessee dropped two games in a row isn't going to mean much when the Vols come here on Thanksgiving Day. Because Alabama was tied by Howard in their opener doesn't mean that the 'Cats are going to walk all over them at Birmingham. And Tulane's loss to Auburn only means that the Plainsmen will be a lot tougher than was expected and add another hard game to the list.

The Wildcats have a good chance to win most of these games, or maybe we should say, a better chance to win them than they have had in previous years. However, if they should drop one of them it would not necessarily be disgraceful.

The team should be heartily congratulated on its showing last Saturday and not forgotten any time during the season, win or lose.

Cat 'Breather' Team Makes Buckeyes Pant Hard to Win

Kentucky's mighty Wildcats threw a scare into the powerful Buckeyes of Ohio State, Saturday, and kept a record crowd of 56,686 persons in doubt as to the final outcome until the last few minutes of play, finally bowing under a 19 to 6 score.

The work of "Bert 'Man o' War' Johnson and Bob 'Twenty Grand' Davis, Kentucky's thoroughbred halfbacks, was the best seen in the Ohio stadium in many years. These stellar performers repeatedly broke through the Buck forward wall to nail would be ball carriers, and time and time again carried the ball through their tackles for sizeable gains. These two lads went into the Ohio city heralded as great ball players and proved to the thousands of northerners that they were not overrated. It was Davis that carried the ball from the five-yard line over the goal for the Wildcat's only touchdown.

From the opening kickoff, the Buckeyes took the ball and marched straight for a touchdown without relinquishing the ball. This did not take the heart out of the Kentuckians because from this point on they managed to hold their own against the mighty Bucks.

Ohio's line Saturday was sluggish in spots and had it not been for the work of Gomer Jones at center, Kentucky might have gained more than they did. The work of Ohio's ends, Wendt and Rees, was particularly outstanding and they were sharp thorns in the sides of Wildcat ball carriers.

Johnson and Davis were not the only Kentucky men to receive a large amount of praise from Ohio newspapers. Elmore Simpson, fullback; Nevers, tackle, and Myers, center, were given credit for the great showing made by the men of Wynne. Captain Jimmy Long and "Duke" Ellington were publicized as two of the best flankmen to set foot on the Ohio gridiron.

Although the Cats were defeated by two touchdowns, statistics show that the game was much closer. Ohio had 18 first downs, 12 by rushing and six by passing; Kentucky had 10, eight by rushing, one by passing, and one by a penalty. Ohio gained 177 yards advancing the ball; Kentucky chalked up 132. Ohio clicked off 154 yards on eight passes out of 15, and Kentucky made only three out of 13 attempts good for 27 yards. Kentucky had three passes intercepted, but took only two passes away from the Ohioans. Johnson punted for Kentucky averaging 37.3 yards, while Kabalo, punting for Ohio, averaged 39.8 yards.

Ohio had the best of it on punt returns, 74 yards to 15, while Kentucky, due mostly to more opportunities, had the most success returning kickoffs, chalking up 51 to 30 for the Bucks. The Wildcats were outgained almost two to one on total yardage, the figures showing 331 to 159.

Laff every time you feel tickled, and laff once in a while anyhow.

Leaf tobacco being sold to highest bidder

From 1900 up to 1934 the leaf tobacco used for cigarettes increased from 13,084,037 lbs. to 326,093,357 lbs.;

an increase of 2392%

It takes mild ripe tobacco to make a good cigarette.

During the year ending June 30, 1900, the Government collected from cigarette taxes

$3,969,191

For the year ending June 30, 1934, the same taxes were

$350,299,442

—a lot of money.

Cigarettes give a lot of pleasure to a lot of people.

More cigarettes are smoked today because more people know about them—they are better advertised.

But the main reason for the increase is that they are made better—made of better tobaccos; then again the tobaccos are blended—a blend of Domestic and Turkish tobaccos.

Chesterfield is made of mild, ripe tobaccos. Everything that science knows about is used in making it a milder and better-tasting cigarette.

We believe you will enjoy them.
